

Proclamation from the Mayor of San Francisco

WHEREAS, hunger is a worldwide problem that affects people without regard for age, ethnicity, gender, employment status, or family size; and

WHEREAS, nearly 800 million people in the world suffer from chronic hunger and malnutrition; and

WHEREAS, poor nutrition kills 3.1 million children every year; and

WHEREAS, the annual “Walks to Feed the Hungry” offer people the chance to express compassion in solidarity with the world’s poor, as well as to raise awareness to end world hunger; and

WHEREAS, the City and County of San Francisco recognize the work and efforts of Buddhist Global Relief and applauds them for working tirelessly to help people around the world escape from chronic hunger and malnutrition; now THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that I, Edwin M. Lee, Mayor of the City and County of San Francisco, do hereby proclaim October 24, 2015 as...

WALK TO FEED THE HUNGRY DAY

in SAN FRANCISCO!

Join us for a day of compassionate action, practice and friendship, providing basic needs for life.